CULTURAL EXCHANGE AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE UNIVERSITY OF JORDAN AND HANKUK UNIVERSITY OF FOREIGN STUDIES

Both The University of Jordan and Hankuk University of Foreign Studies make efforts to achieve academic excellence bearing on as broad a range of knowledge as possible. Directly related to this aim is the realization by both institutions that interrelations at the university level of persons of varied cultural backgrounds provide a particularity fertile medium for fruitful cultural interaction. If academicians from two universities having strong and distinct cultures can be brought into extended contact with each other, the intellectual exchange that will occur is certain to be of great value. The University of Jordan and Hankuk University of Foreign Studies feel that this goal can be most effectively realized by instigating the three policy procedures outlined below:

AGREEMENT

1. Both Universities shall, by mutual consent, and in accordance with fixed programs, encourage and help the exchange of students and professors.
2. Both Universities shall offer the best help they can possible render to facilitate and reinforce this cooperation that they have agreed on in various fields of interest to both parties.
3. Both Universities shall respond most favorably to a proposal from the other party for an exchange of books, educational materials, and other references.

This agreement is subject to change or denunciation by mutual consent.
